

Checklist of Rights for Reporting Gender-Based or Sexual Misconduct

	I have the right to report this incident to the police, and it is my choice whether or not to speak with law enforcement. I can do so either through the University, through the hospital, through Victim Services (contact information below), or on my own by dialing 911. New York State Police 24 Hour Hotline for reporting campus sexual assaults – 1-844-845-7269.
	I have the right to receive confidential assistance. Confidential assistance is available either through Olean General Hospital, Victim Services or the Center for Student Wellness on Campus. I can also speak with any religious on campus (Friars or Sisters) and information will be kept confidential.
	I know I have a right to report this incident to the University. I know that if I report this incident to an official of the University I can be relatively certain a formal investigation will be initiated, and that all information I report will be a part of that investigation.
	I have the right to request there not be an investigation, or that I remain anonymous throughout the investigation. Ultimately, the University has the authority to determine whether an investigation will move forward if there is a future threat or risk to me or any other member of the community, or if there was physical force or a weapon used.
	I have the right to a Victim Specialist, available through Victim Services – 888-945-3970, or 716-945-3970.
	I have the right to get a medical examination, and know that I am strongly encouraged to do so as soon as possible, especially if the assault has occurred within the past 96 hours. This can be done at Olean General Hospital, in the Sexual Assault Forensic Examiner (S.A.F.E.) unit.
	I have a right to request immediate accommodations, regardless of the status of any internal University investigation, such as “No Contact” orders, changes in living accommodations or class schedules, or any other reasonable accommodation deemed appropriate by the Vice President for Student Affairs.
	I have a right to receive follow-up assistance through Victim Services, or through the Center for Student Wellness, including medical and counseling services.
	I have the right to report this incident at any time, even if I’ve previously chosen not to report.
	I have a right to expect the University will report this to the Title IX Coordinator, and the University will uphold its obligations to provide a safe environment for me to continue my educational endeavors.
