

PRESENT YOUR RESEARCH

17th ANNUAL | Penn-York Conference
for Undergraduate Research

1. Why Participate?

Experience the opportunity to present your research as commonly found in academic environments

2. Excellent resume-builder for students looking to apply to graduate school

3. Network with other students and professors with similar interests.

To Register:

Students wishing to present must submit a 100-word abstract of their paper to the registration page no later than October 15th.

www.sbu.edu/PennYork2016

Hosted by:

What: The 17th Annual Penn-York Conference for Undergraduate Research

Where: St. Bonaventure University

When: Nov. 5, 2016

Projects from all disciplines in the behavioral and social sciences, biological, computational and physical sciences, health-related and applied sciences, and humanities are welcome. The projects can be in progress or completed. The presentation may be a 12-minute oral presentation, a poster presentation or an exhibit of artwork. Three additional minutes will be allotted for questions and answers.

The registration fee for this conference is $10 for students and faculty. Lunch will be provided, along with a program.

Check with your Department to inquire about reimbursement programs!