

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The gowns worn at Commencement reflect a tradition dating from the first universities founded in Europe almost 800 years ago. Because those seats of learning were established by religious orders, the characteristics of their dress at that time are retained, albeit in a somewhat modified form.

The colors that designate areas of study were established for the colleges and universities of the United States in 1895.

The hood, now worn symbolically, was formerly a practical part of the garment, worn over the head to protect the wearer from cold and the elements.

There are three types of robes:

The bachelor's gown is black with full sleeves.

The master's gown, also black, has long sleeves closed at the bottom and a slit midway, through which the wearers put their arms.

The doctor's gown is usually black, but other colors are also used. It is characterized by velvet facing on the front and velvet bars on the sleeves.

The colors used on all hoods, as well as on the velvet of the doctor's gown, indicate the area of study or type of degree.

You'll see these colors today on the hoods of St. Bonaventure University undergraduate and graduate candidates:

White: Bachelor and Master of Arts.

Gold: Bachelor and Master of Science.

Tan: Bachelor and Master of Business/Accountancy.

Crimson: Bachelor of Arts in Communication.

Light blue: Bachelor and Master of Science in Education.

Green: Bachelor and Master of Science in Health Professions.

The predominant faculty hood color you'll see is deep blue, for Ph.D. The color of the lining of the faculty hoods indicates the institution from which their degrees were earned.

The tassel on the mortarboard, or cap, is black with the exception that the doctor's tassel is usually gold.

The president of St. Bonaventure is wearing the presidential medallion and chain, signifying the office.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Thomas Marra, '80

*Chairman of the Board
Symetra Financial Corporation*

Thomas M. Marra, chairman of the board of Symetra Financial Corporation, has more than 40 years of experience in the insurance industry, including serving as Symetra's president and CEO from 2010 to 2018.

After earning his bachelor's degree in math from St. Bonaventure in 1980, Marra began his career at The Hartford Financial Services Group, Inc. as an actuarial student and rose to the position of president and CEO of the parent company. He also served as president and COO of Hartford Life.

Marra held various directorships at The Hartford, including at the parent company and its subsidiaries. In 2009, he became a senior adviser at the Boston Consulting Group in the North America Financial Services division.

He joined Symetra in 2010 and retired in 2018, retaining his post as board chairman.

Marra is a past director of the American Council of Life Insurers (ACLI) and a past chairman of the board of the ACLI and of the Insured Retirement Institute (IRI). He was inducted into the IRI Hall of Fame in 2011. He is a Fellow of the Society of Actuaries (FSA) and a member of the American Academy of Actuaries (MAAA).

Athletics has played a huge role in Marra's life. He played third base for the Bonnies under SBU Hall of Fame Coach Fred Handler, and he attributes much of his success in business to his experience as a student-athlete.

Major gifts to the university from Marra and his wife, Michelle, led to installation of a new turf baseball field at Fred Handler Park and jump-started the campaign to renovate athletic fields at the back of campus into the modern Tom '80 and Michelle Marra Athletics Fields Complex.

The Marras were also major contributors to campaigns to construct the Sandra A. and William L. Richter Center and the William E. and Ann L. Swan Business Center. Marra was a university trustee from 2003 to 2012.

He is vice chair of The Mystic (Connecticut) Aquarium and Sea Research Foundation Board of Trustees, and a board member and former owner of the Mystic Schooners of the New England Collegiate Baseball League (NECBL). He is also the principal owner of BWP Bats LLC, a manufacturer of wooden baseball bats based in Brookville, Pennsylvania.

The Marras have three daughters, Annie, Jackie and Madison, and three grandchildren, with a fourth on the way. Their principal residence is in Delray Beach, Florida.

HONORARY DEGREE RECIPIENT

Maureen Keenan-LeBoeuf, '76

Retired Brigadier General, United States Army

Brig. Gen. Maureen Keenan-LeBoeuf, SBU Class of '76, served as Master of the Sword in the Department of Physical Education at the United States Military Academy (West Point), the first and only woman to hold the position since its establishment in 1814, and the first woman department head in West Point history. During her 28-year

Army career, she held various staff and leadership positions and piloted UH-1 "Huey" helicopters over the continental United States and Europe.

LeBoeuf is a senior adviser and faculty member at Thayer Leadership and is a sought-after speaker on leadership development and wellness. She served as the board chair of the USO of North Carolina, was executive director of the Feagin Leadership Program at Duke Sports Medicine in Durham, North Carolina, and served as the vice chair of the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services. She is also the author of the book, "Developing Your Philosophy of Living and Leading One Moment at a Time."

An Olean native, LeBoeuf is the daughter of the late Leo E. Keenan Jr., LL.D., '47, '00, who taught English at St. Bonaventure for 52 years, and the late Ann F. Keenan, '47. LeBoeuf served for nine years as a member of the university's Board of Trustees (2001-10). All eight of LeBoeuf's siblings earned undergraduate degrees from St. Bonaventure. As a family, the Keenans have more than 25 degrees from the university.

After earning her master's in education from the University of Georgia in 1986, LeBoeuf was assigned as an instructor in the Department of Physical Education at West Point. Upon completion of her doctoral studies at the University of Georgia in 1994, she returned to West Point as an associate professor and Director of Instruction in the Department of Physical Education.

LeBoeuf earned a diploma in strategic leadership from the U.S. Army War College and another in management and leadership from the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College. Her awards and decorations include the Distinguished Service Medal, Meritorious Service Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, four awards of the Army Commendation Medal, Army Achievement Medal, National Defense Service Medal, Army Service Ribbon, Overseas Service Ribbon, and the Army Aviator Badge.
