Tenure-Track Assistant/Associate Professor and Journalism MA Programs Director

The Jandoli School of Communication at St. Bonaventure University invites applications for a tenure-track assistant or associate professor who could develop, direct and teach in new online graduate programs in digital journalism and sports journalism, beginning in the fall of 2021. The successful candidate will serve as director of both programs and teach in one or both.

In addition, s/he will advise students; contribute to curriculum and program development; participate in school-wide assessment, Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) initiatives, and accreditation efforts; and provide service and outreach for the Jandoli School, the University and community. The successful candidate will also have the opportunity to teach during the summer for additional compensation.

An applicant for the position should possess the following qualifications:

- A terminal degree in journalism, communication or a related field. We will also consider candidates who are A.B.D. with an anticipated defense within 6 months.
- Significant professional experience in digital and/or sports journalism that will inform teaching.
- Experience in managing and administering an academic program preferred.
- An active research and/or writing agenda emphasizing professional activity that shows promise of publication.
- Teaching experience, particularly online classes.
- A track record of creativity and innovation.
- A demonstrated awareness of inequities and challenges faced by underrepresented students and faculty and a vision for how his/her work will contribute to St. Bonaventure's values of compassion, wisdom and integrity, including the respect, dignity, and individual worth of others.

The successful candidate will be expected to demonstrate an appreciation of and respect for the University's Catholic and Franciscan mission. As a member of the St. Bonaventure community, the candidate will promote the Franciscan values of discovery, community and individual worth. Women and members of underrepresented populations are strongly encouraged to apply.
